Looking at the Nation with Col. Hugh C.

The saying that forty million Frenchmen can't do wrong may be true enough but we can recall a time when ten million Canadians and a hundred and ten Americans were wrong. It was toward the close of the war when we discovered that the nation with the greatest merchant marine would capture world trade. There was every reason to think so, for had not world tonnage been sadly depleted? If anyone thought otherwise and said, so let him speak now or forever hold his peace.

And so Britain, Canada and the United States started on a frenzied programme of ship-building. Iron ships, wooden ships, even cement ships. Millions of pounds and dollars were sunk in them and in operating them afterwards. Everyone thought it a shrewd business enterprise. Instead of that it was a flop. Where are those ships now? Most of them were scrapped, but all of them survive in the national debts.

What happened? Well, the nations thus reaching out for world-commerce suddenly became nationalistic, erecting tariff barriers that were more effective than a blockade.

The proposal to unite the three maritime provinces has been revised. It is believed that great economies could be effected if they were one big province instead of three small ones. It does not always turn out that way. Cities have grown by incorporating suburban areas but the tax rates grow with the city's growth. There are small towns and villages in Canada with very low tax rates and no debt burden. There are no large cities and towns so happily circumstanced. Of the three maritime provinces, Prince Edward Island is the smallest and most economically administered.

No good argument can be advanced against the contention that the anti-titles resolution passed by one parliament, or rather one chamber of the parliament, is not binding upon succeeding parliaments. No one would contend that a resolution passed by a village council this year is binding upon the village council of next year if the resolution is only an expression of opinion.

The objection to titles in Canada arose through a few abuses and the granting of a few hereditary titles. If the latter are not granted and the same care and judgment used in future lists as is shown in this initial one the objection to titles will disappear. They give pleasure to the recipients and their friends and hurt none but the envious, and those who think they are foreign to the genius of our democracy.

An evening newspaper charges us with plagiarizing a paragraph from its columns. We cannot plead that we did not read the paper, but we have no recollection of seeing any such paragraph there, so we must fall back on the old bromide about great minds running in the same channel, for we should hate to admit that it was due to the unconscious machinations (another plagiarism) of a memory grown defective. The editor of that paper should, however, be the last instead of the first to prefer the charge because not long ago he published in his editorial columns several articles of ours without credit, or cash, or thanks, or anything.

Prof. Irving Fisher's list of eighteen men in the world who know what money means includes two bankers. It is a gracious concession just like putting two university professors into a list of men who know what education means.

The man who undertakes to make up such a list should include his own name for how can he select the men who know what money means if he himself does not?

It has been said that an Englishman grouches only when he is well off. When he is really in difficulty he bucks up. Having in mind that he is not now grouching, the presumption must be that prosperity has not yet returned to his island home but indications are that it is on the way and that grouching may be resumed.

Harry Nelson of Vulcan, died on Sunday morning, Jan. 21, at Vulcan hospital, following a sudden attack of illness on Friday. He had suffered from heart weakness for the past five years, and his death was not unexpected. He is survived by his widow who resides in Vulcan.

This district joins with Vulcan in regret at the passing of Mr. Nelson, and sportsmen and newspapermen throughout Southern Alberta will also mourn his death.

He resided in High River from 1907 to 1921, as a member of the Times staff, and during that time was a most enthusiastic and capable community worker, with a multitude of interests. Coming from lacrosse-loving Ontario, he was one of the promoters of the game in Southern Alberta and was a member of the High River team as well as an official. In hockey also, he participated actively and served in many capacities for the advancement of town sport. Amongst offices which he filled most capably in High River, might be included, secretary of High River Agricultural Society, and the Conservative Association and town councillor for a term of years. One of his hobbies was the old Opera House of which he was manager, and in the old days before motion pictures, he brought many a good show to the town and was known to "trouper" far and wide.

In 1921 he moved to Vulcan where he acted as manager of the Vulcan Advocate for Charles Clark. This position he filled till 1929, when the connection was discontinued owing to ill health. He still retained his newspaper connections, however, by correspondence for city papers.

All his life was spent in newspaper work. Born in Toronto, Ontario in 1872, he learned typesetting in Dundas, and later moved to Chatsworth where he edited the Chatsworth News. Here he was married to Miss Emily Partridge, and the move West was made about 1907.

Mr. Nelson was regarded as a splendid printer with a thorough knowledge of newspaper work, and an absorbing interest in all phases of community life.

At Vulcan he was secretary-treasurer of the old Community club, was a supporter of amateur sport and was prominent in the Masonic, I.O.O.F., Foresters, Orange, K. of P. and the Elks fraternities, filling many of the chairs. He was a member of the United Church of Canada and secretary of the Conservative association.

Impressive funeral services were conducted at the United Church by Rev. P. G. McPherson, pastor, who paid warm tribute to the late Mr. Nelson. An appropriate song service was rendered by the choir and a duet was sung by Misses Tuttle and Warden. Members of Vulcan Lodge, A.F. and A.M. were present in a body and members of that order acted as pallbearers. The remains were conveyed to High River cemetery by A.W. Kelly, funeral director, where members of Cornerstone Lodge, A.F. and A.M. took charge of the burial services. Bro. W.E.M. Holmes delivered the Masonic last rites.

Y. P. S. REGULAR MEETING

Members of the Vulcan Young People's Society met for their fortnightly session in the United Church hall on Wednesday evening of last week. Following the regular business session the group was addressed by Bob McElroy on the subject of dramatics. The speaker brought out the point of the possibilities of local talent Chautauqua in town and proposed two plans for the advancement of the idea. From the suggestions given the group selected a representative committee to look into the matter and get the tendencies of the various individuals and societies that would contribute talent to such an enterprise. The committee selected included Rev. P. G. McPherson, R. L. Elves, Norman Lockhart, Bob McElroy, Maymie Lebeau.

Annual Meeting Board Vulcan United Church

D. McAfee and W. D. Allan Elected to Board of Stewards

The annual meeting of the congregation of the Vulcan United church was held on Thursday evening, January 18th, at 8 o'clock. W. D. Allan acted as chairman.

Reports were given by all of the organizations connected with the church and satisfactory progress was shown in every department. The financial statement showed a small cash balance or hand with all accounts paid at the end of the year.

To fill two vacancies on the Board of Stewards, Mr. D. McAfee and Mr. W. D. Allan were both elected for a three year term.

After the business meeting there was a social hour and refreshments served by the ladies aid.

LOCAL ITEMS

Joe Irwin returned to Vulcan recently from Athabasca where he has been working for the past four months.

The Good Deeds W.I. will meet at the home of Mrs. A. J. Kennedy for a one o'clock luncheon on Thursday, February 8th.

The Ladies' Bible Class of the Church of Christ meets at home of Mrs. Z. Deal on Thursday, Feb. 1st for their regular meeting of that month.

About seventy members and their friends attended a social evening under auspices of the Reid Hill U.F.A. held in the community hall on Friday evening. The occasion was a pleasant one.

On Monday evening of last week, Dr. G. M. Carson gave his lecture on "The Kingdom of Israel" at the Queenstown hall. The doctor has been delivering lectures on the same subject for the past few months at many of the district points.

A group of mid-gut hockey players were provided with transportation to Brant by Mr. Stack and Mr. Weigh on Saturday and met the Brant mid-guts in a hockey tilt. The ice was sticky and soft but the youngsters played good hockey and brought home a 4 to 2 victory.

The mild weather enjoyed now for over two weeks is history. Tuesday morning "old man" winter stalked back into the landscape with vengeance. Snow coupled with a high wind made a blizzard of proportions not seen here this winter and the entire district is under a blanket of snow and traffic to and from town is at a standstill for the moment.

The third of a series of social evenings held under joint auspices of the Mothers' Association for the Boy Scouts and the Vulcan Branch of the Canadian Legion was held in the Memorial hall on Thursday evening. Winners at bridge were Mrs. Rutten and Mr. Greene; and whilst honours went to Mrs. Kemp and Mr. Rutherg. Luncheon and dancing followed the card games and the large crowd thoroughly enjoyed the evening. On this Thursday evening another social evening has been arranged under the same joint sponsorship. A special "Burns' Night" program will be presented.

On Wednesday afternoon last the Vulcan midguts played the Brant midguts on their home ice and scored an 8 to 2 victory. A good sized crowd watched the game and cheered the diminutive hockey players to a decisive win. On Saturday of two weeks ago the Vulcan midguts made a journey to Nanton and gave the fans in that town a splendid exhibition of hockey. It was a great game, the score being a 0-0 tie at the end of the third period. During the first overtime frame Ronnie Marshall scored for the locals and in the second five minutes Shorty Ottewill scored, making a 2-0 win. The Nanton group were booked for a return game on Saturday, but the ice in the rink was too soft. Local lineup includes Ed Stack, Bill Monkman, Niel Almond, Vic Robson, Ronnie Marshall, Glen Fisher, S. Ottewill, Don Greene, Elix Woodward and Jack McFarlane.

Vulcan Team Win Two Games During Week

Defeat Stavelly 4-2 on Friday and Okotoks 5-4 on Monday

The losing slump for the Vulcan Elks' hockey team was of short duration and two wins during the week's play from Wednesday till Tuesday has increased the confidence of the fans. Apart from this it has increased the Elks points in league standing to 18, clinching the spot for league playoffs. The closest contender is Lethbridge with 13 points.

The win-of-the-week was over Okotoks at that point on Monday evening. All of the fifty or more fans who journeyed with the team are positive this was the best game and the fastest game they have witnessed this season. Vulcan set back the Oil City squad 5 to 4, Earl Robson figuring in four of the five tallies made. He scored twice and assisted twice. Every member of the line-up played a wonderful game and credit is due everyone for their part in gaining the victory.

Lineup of Teams

The other win was gained from Stavelly on Friday evening at the local arena. Four to two was the final score that provided the fans plenty of thrills before the game ended. The ice withstood the warm weather of the day and proved good for skating, although the puck was hard to handle at times.

The first period went scoreless, both goalies on their toes making many dangerous shots safe. Early in the second frame Monkman scored on an assist from Blundun for the first tally. This was followed by alternate scoring by both teams, Vulcan having the one goal lead at the end of this session. In the third period Blundun scored the fourth tally for the locals and it was all over but the cheering.

GAS FACTORIES FOR NEXT BIG WAR

In the face of peace propaganda, nations prepare for war. Beverley Nichols continues his account of the newer and more potent devices for wiping out nations. This is from Dec. 15, Maclean's magazine.

Prof. J. S. Haldane, eminent scientist is of the school of thought that believes the notorious mustard gas of the great war is comparatively humane. Large quantities of explosives dropped on a great city would be more likely to be immediately effective than poison gas. A really effective air raid would cause incalculable damage without the aid of gas at all. Apart from those directly hit, a large body of civilians would be suffocated to death or burned to death. So the two schools of thought continue their argument as to whether it is better to burn people to death or gas them to death.

But it must always be remembered that gas will be used, and that it has advanced greatly in subtlety and potency since the war. The next war is not going to be a gentleman's war and the flimsy paper declarations which statesmen have signed, will not withstand the white hot flames of hatred. Even though you achieved the internationalization of chemical factories involved in producing and distributing the breath of the devil an outbreak of war would put a quick end to these elegant agreements.

The average Englishman may say, "How do we know that the Huns, the French, the Russians (whatever our 'enemies' may be) will get through at all. We have an air force."

The answer is that they have got through, and no great city can be defended against air attack. At the most recent Defence of London Air Manoeuvres, out of a total of 250 planes which took part in a night air raid of London, only 16 were even discovered by searchlights, let alone shot down.

The Earl of Halsbury, K.C., says: "Forty-two tons of mustard gas could wipe out every human soul in a huge area of London in twelve hours." One R.A.F. bomber can carry two tons of bombs, so it would not take a large fleet to devastate a city completely. General Crozier says: "During the Great War, 380 tons of bombs were dropped on London. That quantity could now be delivered in less than twelve hours."

French Opinion

French authorities say that 100 airplanes each carrying a ton of gas could cover Paris with a gas cloud 20 metres thick. This could be done in an hour and if there was no wind it would annihilate the city.

No Protection

Thomas Edison said before his death: "Neither I nor any one of my acquaintances has discovered any protection against the airplane. There is in existence no means of preventing a flotilla of planes, sweeping over a city or countryside and destroying millions. Lewisite, the most deadly poison gas yet produced, could choke London's population to death in three hours, with only 20 to fifty airplanes required."

America's Contribution

In the last twelve years the efficiency of aircraft and poison gas has immensely increased. In fact the clumsy gas of war years is now obsolete. It is a little difficult to obtain accurate information as plants are averse to publicity.

At present, it would seem the most energetic production of poison gas is in America. "At Edgewood a huge gas poison plant is built costing 45 million dollars. It has 218 manufacturing buildings and immense transportation facilities. In it 1000 tons of poison gases are kept in stock, and plant capacity is said to be 800 tons a day." This means that this factory could produce in two months as much gas as Germany used in the entire war.

England Busy

England is not far behind. Near Salisbury is the Government Chemical Warfare Experimental Station, where poison gas products from St. Helen's, Lancashire, are tested. Every conceivable conditions obtainable in physical results are tested. Experiments must be and are made on living victims, animal and human. Each hut is a laboratory and death house. Since 1916 to the present experiments have been carried on continuously. Thousands of animals, horses, cats, rabbits, rats and mice, have been used in the experiments.

Experts in every country and from every experience, all state as a fact almost too obvious to be mentioned, that no great city can be defended from the air and that millions will therefore be subjected in event of war to the deadliest gases with which bombs can be filled.

LEAGUE EXECUTIVE EXTEND FOOTHILLS SCHEDULE

Colin McInnes, Jack Marshall and Joe McKie were members of the Elks' lodge representing the hockey team at a meeting of the executive of the Foothills league held at Claresholm over the week end.

It was the voice of the meeting that the schedule be extended and for this purpose the league was split into two divisions, north and south. In the north are Okotoks, Nanton and Vulcan; in the south Claresholm, Staveland and Lethbridge. Teams in each division will play home and home games. That means that the Vulcan Elks will have four more games to play after tonight's tilt with Macleod to complete the schedule. Nanton and Okotoks will again be seen at the local arena and the locals will journey to each town again.

For the playoffs the teams in first and second place in each division will play off and the winners then in turn will play for the league championship. This is the same arrangement as last season.

Vulcan with eighteen points is assured a berth in the playoffs.

COMMUNICATION

Crossleigh Farm,
R. R. No. 2

Editor, Advocate,

Dear Sir:-

Seeing your article on the weather, I thought you might be interested in this report from April 1933, we received the following amount of rainfall: April .10; May 2.36; June .57; July .31; Aug. 2.10; Sept. .10.

You will note that during June and July we only had .88 of inch in the two months beside having extreme heat and although we did not have July frost, we did have the grasshoppers, which did us much more damage than the government's estimate of 11 per cent. they were more severe on the oat crop and practically no oats threshed in this district.

I must thank you for your splendid editorial articles which have appeared of late.

Yours truly,

DAVID B. SIMS,
Weather Observer

HOCKEY NOTES

On Wednesday evening the Champion hockey team played on the local ice sheet in a return contest and were again defeated by the Vulcan Juniors 2 to 1 being the final score. The ice was in poor shape due to warm weather and speed was lacking throughout the game.

Mrs. Groves was born in Gladwin, Mich., and spent her girlhood there. She was the youngest of seven children in the family. She moved from Michigan to Wisconsin and in April, 1901 was married to L. M. Groves at Viroqua, Wis. With her husband and family she came to Champion in 1905 and since that time has resided in the community. She took an active part in the community affairs, especially the Amity Club, Old Timers Association, Ladies Aid and Women's Institute. The January meeting of Brant W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. Thos. Johns on the 11th inst. The branch has started the year with an enrolment of twenty-four members who plan to be very active and push depression right out of Alberta. Other W.I.'s look for our reports. The members are sponsoring a bridge party in aid of the Wood's Home to be held January 24th at the Brant Hotel. Each member donated a card table cover to the branch to be used for card parties.
